GLOBAL MANAGEMENT MASTER

STUDY OBJECTIVE

Practical knowledge, intercultural competence, scientific and critical thinking: the Master's degree programme Global Management connects all the skills needed to succeed in a globally active company. Throughout the four semesters, the focus is on project management, methodological skills and the independent application of scientific methods.

Within the international cohort, students get to experience intercultural exchange at first hand and gain confidence of working in a global setting.

REQUIREMENTS

- University degree from a domestic or foreign university in a business degree programme with at least 180 ECTS credits and an overall grade of "good" or better or a comparable domestic or foreign degree
- knowledge of business administration and a corresponding interest in economic topics
- solid knowledge of English (C1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages)
- interest in another language (German or another language - depending on requirements)

COURSE OF STUDIES

The goal of the degree is to deepen specialist knowledge of international business and management. Entrepreneurship and management skills are the foundation for further strategy development, organisation and the monitoring of business activities on a global scale. A total of 120 ECTS are acquired in four semesters. Modules like Scientific Writing, Business Research Methods and the Master's thesis with the corresponding colloquium and academic defence offer a solid scientific base to all of this.

During the course of studies, students choose an individual academic focus. With an optional semester abroad, they can sharpen their personal profile further and gain even more intercultural experience.

In addition, students improve their language skills. All courses are taught in English, students can take optional language courses and learning German as a foreign language is compulsory in the second and third semester. This makes the programme an ideal fit for international students looking to start their career in Germany.

The first semester takes place online and/or hybrid and serves as an orientation and familiarization phase. It allows students to prepare for the following semesters which take place on campus as they attend lectures and get to know each other.

CAREER PERSPECTIVES

This degree programme equips students to take on responsibility in a globalised environment. With the entrepreneurial knowledge they have gained during the degree, graduates are able to assume roles in project management, developing strategies, coordinating and supervising business activities.

AREAS OF RESPONSIBILITY

Management tasks in a global environment:

- in a strategy department
- in the management staff unit
- in a project management office
- in business development
- as a project manager
- as a strategy developer for long-term goals and plans
- as an account manager
